

Article re: Publishing 16 Apr 2004

Hello

Thank you from the Program Committee to our panelists at the Lunch with LAUC-I this week! We had a good turn-out, and a great conversation.

As follow up, or if you didn't make it on Wednesday, you might take a look at an article in the C&RL News of March 2004: "Tips for getting published in scholarly journals: Strategies for academic librarians" by Robert V. Labaree at USC. He mentions some of the strategies our panelists did, and some different ones, as well. Example: go through your research papers from school--update and professionalize something you're particularly proud of.

Thanks for the article, Lorelei.

Jennifer for the Program Committee
