

Lunch with LAUC-I March 9, 2005

Hello LAUC-I

Please join us tomorrow (March 9, 2005) in SL 104 from noon to one for a follow-up to the Opportunities in Librarianship program from last week. We'll report on the evaluations we received and discuss plans for the next, campus-wide program.

Come with your ideas and feedback. We'll bring the snacks.

Best,
Jennifer for the Program Committee

LAUC-I Colleagues,

Thanks so much to the following 17 LAUC-I Members who have generously agreed to serve as resource/consultants for students and staff who are contemplating or exploring careers in libraries and archives: Bube, Collins, Dooley, Grahame, Kaufman, Jacobs, Landis, Murphy, Palmer, Riggs, Ruttenberg, Sisson, Vecchiola, Urrizola, Vick, Wilson, and Woo. The ALC is still compiling all of the information you submitted, but we will be sharing a roster of your names and contact information at the upcoming LAUC-I-sponsored program, Opportunities in Librarianship, for library staff and student assistants, on Wednesday, March 3rd. (See attached flyer for further information). We are thrilled that over 25 staff and students have RSVP'd for this first program and look forward to a lively panel presentation and discussion.

If others of you would like to join this illustrious group of librarian career consultants, it is not too late; you can still respond to the survey below distributed by Yvonne and the Academic Librarianship Committee. We encourage your participation.

Best,

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Hope you had a wonderful holiday. LAUCI-ALC has received 11 completed surveys. If you have not submitted a reply to the UCI Libraries' Career Recruitment and Outreach Program Librarian Survey please do it by Jan 9. I will be sending thank you e-mails to all who have replied. If you have completed the survey and do not hear from me please notify me right away so I can make sure I have your survey.

The LAUC-I Academic Librarianship Committee (ALC) has been charged to assist with the development of the LAUC-I initiated Career Recruitment and Outreach Program. We are working with LAUC-I Executive Board, Libraries Human Resources, and the Department of Education and Outreach. The primary audience of the Program is students and staff at UCI. For more information on the program, see the Strategic Plan on LAUC-I website, <http://sun3.lib.uci.edu/~lauciweb/>.

The ALC would like to identify and create a roster of librarians who are willing to act as a resource/consultant for students and staff who are investigating or attending library school. If you would like to participate in such a program please provide the following information. Please send your reply to Yvonne Wilson, ymwilson@uci.edu, by December 22.

1. Name

2. Position(s) at UCI

3. Library school attended, emphasis, and dates

4. Do you have experience with a library school distance learning program as a student or instructor? If so, please describe briefly.

5. Have you participated in a library internship or fellowship program? If so please describe.

6. Have you supervised a library intern or fellow? If so please describe.

7. List other degrees, universities attended, and dates

8. List previous library positions (academic and non-academic)

9. What are your research or professional interests that might be useful to share with prospective librarians?

Thanks very much in advance for your interest and participation.

Below is the message the Program Committee sent to all library staff (a similar message will be sent to student workers) inviting them to the LAUC-I recruitment and outreach program on March 3. Thank you to our confirmed UCI panelists, Carol Ann Hughes, Bill Landis, Gerry Munoff, Manuel Urrizola, and Rina Vecchiola.

Please encourage staff and students who might be interested to attend, especially if you're a supervisor.

We also welcome you to come hear the panelists, participate in the discussion, and eat some food. The more who attend, the more opportunities there will be for continued conversations after the program. RSVP to me at jljacobs@uci.edu by Friday, February 20.**

Opportunities in Librarianship

Are you considering going to library school, or are you currently enrolled? Are you interested in learning more about careers in librarianship, including those in academic libraries, museums, archives, and corporate libraries?

The Librarians Association of UCI (LAUC-I) would like to invite you to the March 3 program, Opportunities in Librarianship. The program features a panel of librarians who will describe their career paths, each focusing on a different aspect of the profession. Some of the topics: how library school can enrich your career, opportunities in library administration, and getting involved in professional organizations.

The rest of the program is a chance for you to engage in discussion with the panelists, and everyone is welcome to come with questions. Confirmed panelists include: Carol Ann Hughes, Bill Landis, Gerry Munoff, Manuel Urrizola, and Rina Vecchiola.

The logistics:

- Wednesday March 3, noon to 2, Langson 570
- Refreshments!
- Make sure you have your supervisor's approval

RSVP to Jennifer Jacobs at jljacobs@uci.edu by Friday, February 20

To supervisors of students: we would greatly appreciate it if you would encourage and help your interested student workers to attend, as well. We will send them a message, but a word from you might be more effective for many. Thanks!

We hope to see you there,

Jennifer for the LAUC-I Program Committee: Ryan Hildebrand, Jennifer Jacobs, Roumiana Katzarkov, and Rina Vecchiola
