

Lunch with LAUC-I

You are invited to attend the Program Committee's next Lunch with LAUC-I: "Google Searching and the Library". Our guest speaker is Dan Russell, a research scientist at Google, who works in the area of search quality. Basically he figures out how to make Google users happy with their web searching. Mr. Russell will be sharing some of his research results and also tips that every librarian should know about Google.

As always, we'll be providing snacks and refreshments!

So please join us:

Day: Wednesday April 29th

Time: 12:00 - 1:00

Place: LL 570

All are welcome to attend the festivities, non-exempt staff who participate should request approval from their supervisor prior to attending if needed. LAUC members will see this event on their Oracle calendars.

Many Thanks,

The Program Committee (Vicki Grahame, Becky Imamoto, Bob Johnson, and Kathryn Kjaer)
